Historical Note

Ball State University students documented the Muncie Community School Corporation from 2007-2009 through a series of interviews, surveys, and observations. The project encompassed several elementary schools including Longfellow, Storer, Mitchell, Sutton, Grissom, Northview, and Westview as well as Southside High School.

EDFON 420 is an academic class at Ball State University that studies the complex relationships between schools and society through the disciplines of sociology, history, and philosophy of education. The goal of the class is to develop disciplines of normatives, interpretive, and critical perspectives on education.
