

Passion

Why am I so passionate about Jesus? Indeed, I am truly in love with Him and He is my God. The answer to my question is simple. I love Jesus because He loves me. This truth is so simple, yet very complex.

I became a Christian in my early high school years. In this time, I truly decided to follow Jesus. The key point I want to make here, however, is that I didn't find Jesus. He found me. How could I ever want to turn to Jesus in my sinfulness. In reality, I would have never chosen to seek Him. Jesus found me, and revealed Himself to me through His word, His followers, and His love.

What do I mean when I say Jesus loved me? I mean that He actually died in my place. His love, perfect love, was displayed so clearly. As a sinner, I deserve God's wrath and eternal hell. Surely harsh, and as a matter of fact, everyone deserves this because of their sin. But here's what's so amazing, I am free from that. If you put your trust in Christ that He died for you and rose again, because He did, then you will be saved from hell and God's wrath. This gift is given to you freely if you choose to trust in Jesus and turn from your sin. You will enter into a relationship with God and He will never let you go. Understand that this is all possible because Jesus died in the place of sinners. Instead of crushing me, God crushed His only son Jesus. Jesus, God, lived perfectly, and He traded places with sinners. He was given what I deserved, death, and I was given what I could never deserve, eternal life.

This truth blows my mind! The God of the universe died in my place, and desires a relationship with me? Why would anyone not choose to follow Him? Well, many people still live in their sin, so they don't want Jesus. If this is you, you have no idea what you've been missing. You have no idea how amazing something is until you've experienced it yourself. Don't turn this down. I'm so compelled to share this with you, reader, because I want you to know of the love God has for you.
