A new era in Ball State women’s basketball began May 10, 2012, when Brady Sallee was named the 11th head coach in program history.

Sallee, who led the Cardinals to a 17-16 overall record in 2012-13, owns a 153-125 career head coaching record, including his 136-109 mark in eight seasons at Eastern Illinois.

In his first year at Ball State, Sallee helped the Cardinals reach the Final 16 of the 2013 Women’s National Invitation- al Tournament (WINIT) with a roster featuring just seven healthy players over the final 11 games, and as few as six at one point in the season.

After a few bumps and bruises in the first half of his debut season, Sallee helped Ball State post one of the most dramatic turnarounds in Mid-American Conference history as the Cardinals earned the No. 2 seed in the MAC Tournament with a 12-4 league mark. Under Sallee’s tutelage, Ball State improved eight games from its 4-12 MAC mark in 2011-12, which ties as the biggest MAC turnaround in the last 20 years. Sallee also became just the second coach in program history to start MAC play 8-1 in his or her first season.

Thanks to its strong effort in the last half of the regular season, which saw the Cardinals knock off eventual MAC Tournament Champion Central Michigan twice, Ball State earned its fourth appearance in the WNIT and first since the 2006-07 season.

Sallee’s Cardinals then pulled off one of the biggest upsets in the tournament with a hard-fought, 53-48 first-round victory at Big Ten foe Minnesota. Ball State continued its tournament run by knocking off Northern Iowa, 51-48, at Worthen Arena to win two WNIT games for the first time in program history.

For their efforts, freshman guard Nathalie Fontaine was named the MAC Freshman of the Year, while senior guard Shanee’ Jackson was voted the MAC Sixth Player of the Year. Fontaine also earned recognition on the All-MAC Second Team and MAC All-Freshman Team, while junior guard Brandy Woody was selected to the All-MAC Third Team.

During his tenure at Eastern Illinois, Sallee led the Panthers to the institution’s first ever Ohio Valley Conference title during the 2009-10 campaign. In 2011-12, Eastern Illinois was 22-9 overall, posted a 13-3 OVC mark and competed in the WNIT.

In his last five seasons at EIU he guided the Panthers to 106 victories, which is the most ever by an EIU women’s basketball team over a five-year span.

Sallee coached Eastern Illinois to back-to-back 20-win seasons in 2008-09 and 2009-10. His team won 24 games in 2008-09, which marked the first time a women’s basketball team from EIU had accomplished that feat since 1987-88. He also coached the Panthers to three Women’s National Invitational Tournament appearances from 2010-12.

Throughout his eight seasons at Eastern Illinois, he coached 17 all-conference selections which included three OVC Freshman of the Year honorees, along with the two-time OVC Defensive Player of the Year in 2010 and 2012.

Under his tutelage the EIU women’s basketball program set a school record for free throws made in a season (595, 2009-10) and made three pointers (180, 2008-09) while also scoring 2,736 points as a team in 2009-10 which was the third most in school history.

Academically his student-athletes excelled in the classroom, as they earned four consecutive OVC Academic Achievement Awards along with posting the highest percentage of players on the Commissioner’s Honor Roll from 2007-10. His teams have ranked nationally among women’s basketball programs with high grade-point averages earning the seventh-best team GPA in 2007-08 with a 3.475. The Panthers also ranked ninth in 2008-09 and tenth in 2006-07.
Before his tenure at Eastern Illinois he was the top assistant at East Carolina in 2002-03. From 1996-2002 he helped Kent State, a fellow member of the Mid-American Conference, to five regular-season MAC Championships and three tournament titles. The Golden Flashes participated in the NCAA Tournament four of his seven years while posting a combined record of 155-56. He also was an assistant coach at Idaho State in 1994-95.

A native of Lexington, Ky., Sallee played collegiate baseball at Thomas More College from 1990-93. While at Thomas More, he served as a student assistant with the women’s basketball team. Sallee earned his bachelor’s degree in business administration in 1993.

Sallee and his wife Mandy have three children -- Avery, Taryn and Drew.

New spaces at Worthen Arena will include:
- a large practice area
- new basketball locker rooms
- renovated and expanded volleyball locker rooms

These upgrades will allow teams to flexibly schedule practices at the most beneficial times for student-athletes.

BALL STATE CARDINALS
BALL STATE UNIVERSITY

- Founded in 1918, Ball State is a state-assisted residential university in Muncie, Indiana, a midsize Midwestern city one hour northeast of Indianapolis. About 21,000 undergraduate and graduate students enroll each year in diverse academic programs on and off campus.

- Ball State is ranked a research university by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and a Doctoral University by the Learning Commission of the North Central Association. Individual programs are accredited.

Jo Ann M. Gora has served as Ball State University’s 14th president since 2004. She quickly demonstrated her commitment to putting students first by declining an inauguration and instead establishing a scholarship fund for 25 high-achieving students. She has led the development of the university’s Education Redefined strategic plan, which is in its final year of implementation. The cornerstone of that plan is making immersive learning opportunities available to every student.

In the first four years of strategic plan innovation, more than 12,000 students completed more than 750 immersive learning projects in 70 Indiana counties under the mentoring of faculty from every university academic department. Gora has increased Ball State’s commitment to emerging media, campus diversity, and developing nationally ranked academic programs. The strategic plan was the basis for the university’s successful capital campaign, Ball State Bold: Investing in the Future, which topped its $200 million goal by more than $10 million. The university celebrated its conclusion by introducing 55 Bold Celebration Scholars in March 2011 at the Indiana Statehouse, repeating the successful model of the scholarships awarded at the beginning of her presidency.

Gora was one of the 12 charter signatories to the American College and University Presidents Climate Commitment in December 2006. In May 2009, Gora and other officials broke ground on the largest geothermal district energy system in the United States, and Phase One, which will allow Ball State to shut down two coal-fired boilers, will be dedicated in March 2012. When Phase Two is finished, the system will heat and cool more than 45 buildings on Ball State’s campus, saving the university $2 million a year while reducing its carbon footprint by nearly half. For its sustainability commitment, the university has been ranked in The Princeton Review’s Guide to 311 Green Colleges, and has earned a Second Nature Climate Leadership Award. In 2010, Ball State was named the Technology Innovator of the Year by the Hoosier Environmental Council.

Among our more than 152,000 living alumni are renowned entertainers, top corporate executives, leading educators, and members of the Indiana General Assembly.
