2012 Ball State Cardinals

FOOTBALL
Quote from Senior Team Captain Travis Freeman

“We don’t want to do anything extraordinary, we want to do everything well. We want to create a trust on the football field with each other. We have each other. Coach Lembo has created a family atmosphere with a level of respect between the players and coaches. As student-athletes we have a personal bond with the coaches and we want to perform at a high level for them.”
• A school record crowd of 23,861 witnessed a 45-22 Ball State win against the Western Michigan Broncos in a game that clinched the school’s first outright Mid-American Conference West Division title in 2008.

• The Ball State football program has won five championships in the last 20 years and made back-to-back bowl appearances as recently as 2007 and 2008.

2012 CARDINALS
Ball State's John B. and June M. Scheumann Stadium opened as Ball State Stadium in 1967, and has undergone a series of renovations to transform the facility into a major community asset.

A $4 million gift from former Ball State football letterwinner John Scheumann and his wife, June, was the lead gift in the Stadium Campaign. The Stadium Campaign raised a total of $13.6 million for the renovations.

Paul and Patricia Kozel's gift of $1.25 million was honored with the naming of the press box and entertainment suites as the Kozel Communications Center.

The fundraising chairman, the late John Fisher, and his wife, Janice, donated $510,000 and the university named the Fisher Football Training Complex in honor of the gift and their history of philanthropy at Ball State.

The university welcomed ESPN to Scheumann Stadium for the Cardinals' 35-23 win over Navy in 2008. In addition, Ball State welcomed the ESPN2 crew of Rece Davis, Lou Holtz and Mark May to Muncie to witness a 45-14 win over Northern Illinois in 2008.
Ball State opened its Student Wellness and Recreation Center in 2010 and among its many state-of-the-art features is an indoor Field Turf facility which is used by the football program for conditioning and practices due to any inclement weather.
Ball State began as a private normal school in 1899. Eventually the campus and buildings were purchased by the Ball brothers, a group of Muncie industrialists, and given to the state of Indiana in 1918.

The institution was named Ball Teachers College in 1922 and Ball State Teachers College in 1929. The school became a university in 1965 and its 660-acre residential campus now includes more than 60 buildings and 300 additional acres of research property.

Ball State has seven academic colleges and a graduate school with over 150 majors offered, including business, education, sport administration, telecommunications, exercise science, criminal justice, communication studies, journalism, political science and construction management.
Ball State student-athletes perform hours and hours of community service throughout the academic year in the Muncie and surrounding communities. The football team has taken on many projects, including reading programs at local schools, youth clinics, walk-a-thons, appreciation days for veterans and cancer awareness activities.

The Muncie community supports the Ball State football program and its hard work through providing professional job opportunities, internships, mentoring the young people and participating in the Cardinal Cooks Program. Mid-American Conference

Since its inception in 1946, the Mid-American Conference has progressively grown and developed into one of the most aggressive Division I conferences in the country. One of only 11 Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) conferences, the MAC named Dr. Jon A. Steinbrecher as its eighth commissioner in March of 2009.

The league has grown its commitment to championships by expanding to six its number of neutral site postseason events – football (Ford Field, Detroit), volleyball (SPIRE Academy, Geneva, Ohio), men’s and women’s basketball (Quicken Loans Arena, Cleveland), softball (Firestone Stadium, Akron) and baseball (All Pro Freight Stadium, Avon, Ohio).

In 2011, the MAC set a conference record with a 4-1 record in bowl games and won the prestigious ESPN Bowl Challenge Cup for the best FBS conference record in bowl games. The MAC also tied a conference record for bowl invitations in a single season as the five bowl invitations marked the fourth time in conference history (2004, 2008, 2009, 2011). The five MAC programs that were extended bowl invitations included: Temple (Gildan New Mexico Bowl), Ohio (Famous Idaho Potato Bowl), Western Michigan (Little Caesars Pizza Bowl), Toledo (Military Bowl presented by Northrop Grumman) and Northern Illinois (GoDaddy.com Bowl).

Jo Ann Gora

Jo Ann Gora began serving as Ball State’s 14th president in August 2004. Under her leadership, the university has made immersive learning the hallmark of every Ball State student’s college experience. From 2007-2010, nearly 8,200 students completed more than 500 immersive learning projects throughout Indiana and beyond.

Gora has led the development and implementation of the university’s Education Redefined strategic plan, which was the basis of the university’s capital campaign, Ball State Bold. It concluded in June 2011 and topped its $200 million goal by more than $10 million.

Since Gora’s arrival, Ball State has been in the midst of an unprecedented era of campus improvement. For the eight-year period ending in 2012, the university is spending approximately $418 million on major construction and renovation projects. Gora was one of 12 charter signatories to the American College and University Presidents Climate Commitment in 2006. She has led Ball State’s sustainability efforts, including its geothermal energy project, the largest of its kind in the country. This fall, the university completes Phase One of the project, shutting down two coal-fired boilers and saving more than $1 million annually in operational efficiencies.

In 2009, Gora earned the Mira Trailblazer Award from TechPoint for her significant and lasting contributions to technology innovation in Indiana. She is a member of the American Council on Education’s Board of Directors and the Association of Governing Boards’ Council of Presidents. She chairs the Mid-American Conference Presidents’ Council and co-chairs the Central Indiana Corporate Partnership. She serves on the boards of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, First Merchants Bank and Ball Memorial Hospital.
