The Briner Sports Complex opened for the 2011 season. It includes a new soccer facility and an entryway for the soccer, field hockey and track facilities. The $1.7 million project is known as the Briner Sports Complex to recognize the outstanding contribution of Ken and Peggy Briner, who are longtime loyal fans and contributors to Ball State athletics.

In addition to the new soccer facility and entryway for the competition fields north of Scheumann Stadium, the Briner Sports Complex includes a press box and storage building for soccer.
Ball State is looking to continue its climb in 2013 under the direction of fourth-year head coach Craig Roberts. The Cardinals have improved in each of the previous three years and posted a winning record last fall at 8-7-5 overall and 5-3-3 in the Mid-American Conference.

This year's Ball State squad will have a new look after the departure of 10 seniors from a year ago. The Cardinals must replace their entire defensive unit, including goalkeeper Aubrey Buehler and defenders Brigit Reder, Skylar Chew and Pavla Benyrova, all of whom played nearly every minute in 2012.

But the team welcomes the addition of 13 talented newcomers, including four experienced Division I transfers in Jenna Finke, Lauren Hall, Madison Oyer and Elaina Musleh. Three of those players -- Finke, Hall and Oyer -- enrolled at Ball State in January and went through the spring season with the Cardinals.

Ball State also boasts a pair of strong goalkeeping options in senior Layne Schramm and freshman Brooke Dennis.

Offensively, Nicole Pemberton and Jasmine Moses return as Ball State's top scorers after combining for seven goals in 2012. Additionally, key veterans Maimee Morris and Victoria Jacobs also return as starters for the Cardinals.

In the video above, Coach Roberts discusses the 2013 version of his Ball State team and provides his outlook on the season.

Craig Roberts completed his third season as the Ball State soccer head coach in 2012, leading the program to its best finish in five years. He is the fourth head coach in Ball State history, and he spent four seasons as the head coach at UT Martin prior to his appointment in 2010.

Roberts has returned Ball State to contender status in the Mid-American Conference after taking over a team that won just four games the year before he arrived. Under his direction, the Cardinals have improved their winning percentage each season, going from 7-10-2 (.421) in 2010 to 9-9-3 (.500) in 2011 and 8-7-5 (.525) in 2012.

In 2012, Roberts guided the Cardinals to a 5-5-3 record in MAC play and the No. 5 seed in the league’s postseason tournament. Both were the best for the Ball State program since the 2007 season.

The 2012 Cardinals were the only MAC team all season to tie Miami University, which was otherwise perfect in league play. It was the second time one of Roberts’ Ball State teams spoiled an opponent’s perfect MAC season. His 2010 Cardinals were the only MAC team to beat league champion Toledo, taking down the previously unbeaten and untied Rockets in the final league game.

Roberts’ teams have posted 15 shutouts during his time in Muncie. His veteran 2012 team, which featured four MAC Defensive Player of the Week selections, was especially stingy. It allowed opponents fewer than five shots on goal per game.

His 2011 team was a much younger group, featuring a combined 18 freshmen and sophomores, but it managed to put together an outstanding run with seven wins in an eight-game stretch during the middle portion of the season.

A native of Kidderminster, England, Roberts has also coached a trio of All-MAC players at Ball State in Pavla Benyrova (2012), Brigit Reder (2011) and Missy Gordon (2010) to go along with five MAC All-Freshman Team selections.

The Cardinals have also excelled in the classroom, earning the NSCAA Team Academic Award in each of his seasons. Roberts has coached five Capital One Academic All-District selections, including Skylar Chew three times. In 2012, Chew became the first Ball State soccer player to be named a first-team Academic All-American. The Cardinals have also had nine Academic All-MAC selections and six NSCAA Scholar All-Region honorees during his three years at BSU.

Before coming to Ball State, Roberts spent four seasons at UT Martin as the most successful coach in the program’s history. His 2009 team won the Skyhawks’ first-ever Ohio Valley Conference regular-season championship. Over his final three seasons at UT Martin, his team tallied 29 wins, matching the combined number of victories for the program’s previous seven seasons. He left with the school’s top three marks for wins in a season, including the program’s first-ever 10-win campaigns (2007 & 2008).

Under Roberts’ guidance in 2009, UT Martin picked up its first OVC title with a 9-7-0 overall record and a 6-2-0 mark in league play, marking the program’s most conference wins in a single season. The Skyhawks finished the season 39th in NCAA Division I in shutout percentage as they posted eight on the season and only allowed 13 goals in 16 games.

In 2008, Roberts posted his second straight 10-win season as UTM finished the year 10-5-4 overall and advanced to the program’s first ever OVC Tournament championship game. His team finished 21st in NCAA Division I in goals against average at 0.65. In 2007, Roberts led the 16th-most improved team in NCAA Division I as the Skyhawks posted a 10-6-3 record, doubling their win total in just his second season.

During his time at UT Martin, Roberts compiled a 34-27-12 record, including a 19-3-1 mark over his final three seasons. Under his tutelage, the Skyhawks had five first-team All-OVC players, five All-OVC Newcomer players, nine OVC All-Tournament players, 16 OVC Players of the Week, 41 players on the OVC Commissioner’s Honor Roll and three players who received an OVC Medal of Honor (4.0 GPA).

Prior to UT Martin, Roberts spent two seasons as an associate head men’s coach at Virginia Military Institute. He helped VMI to the 16th-most improved Division I record in the nation in 2005 as it earned its first winning season in 16 years. He was nominated for the prestigious National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) assistant coach of the year award for his work with the Keydets.

Prior to VMI, Roberts was an assistant at Saint Mary’s College of California where he helped the Gaels to a No. 24 ranking in the nation during his time. He began his collegiate coaching career at Park University (Mo.) where he was an assistant men’s and women’s coach for both teams ranked in the top 10 nationally in NAIA.

Roberts was a four-year starter and captain at Park for the nationally ranked Pirates. He received all-region accolades for his performance in the 1992 season. He received his bachelor’s degree in education with a concentration in athletic training and biology from Park in 1997 and his master's degree in education from Park in 2003. He is currently pursuing a master's of kinesiology through Saint Mary’s.

Roberts participated in national schoolboy tryouts in England at an early age and went on to obtain semi-professional and professional playing experiences with Wolverhampton Wanderers, Oxford United, Kidderminster Harriers and Worcester City.

Roberts holds his United States Soccer Federation (USSF) ‘A’ License, NSCAA Premier License, NSCAA Goalkeeper Diploma, USSF Youth Specialist License and his English Football Association Coaching License.

Marcie Klebanow enters her second season as an assistant coach at Ball State in the fall of 2013. She assists in all aspects of the program and works directly with the Cardinals’ goalkeepers.

Klebanow served in the summer of 2013 as the head coach of the gold-medal-winning United States Junior Girls’ Jewish National Team for the 19th Maccabiah Games in Israel. Her team went unbeaten at 7-0 for the tournament and out-scored the opposition 24-0.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, and a graduate of Indiana University, Klebanow came to Ball State after previous collegiate assistant coaching stops at USC Upstate and Wagner.

In 2012, her first season at Ball State, she helped the Cardinals to an overall record of 8-7-5. Ball State’s 5-5-3 Mid-American Conference record and No. 5 seed in the league’s postseason tournament were the best for the program since 2007.

Klebanow tutored Ball State goalkeeper Aubrey Buehler, who posted a 0.83 goals against average and four shutouts during the conference season in 2012. Buehler was twice named the MAC Defensive Player of the Week.

Klebanow holds the NSCAA Premier Coaching Diploma, the pinnacle of the Residential Academy offerings. She also holds the NSCAA National Goalkeepers Diploma and the USSF National D License.

She spent the 2011 season at USC Upstate as the top assistant, working with both the goalkeepers and field players. She was the team recruiting and travel coordinator while acting as the team liaison with the compliance department. During her time, two Spartans earned Atlantic Sun post-season accolades.

Klebanow also served as the USC Upstate interim head coach in the spring of 2012. She was responsible for all activities during the Spartans’ spring season, including all recruiting activities, spring practices and games, as well as controlling the program’s budget.

Prior to USC Upstate, Klebanow spent two years as an assistant coach/goalkeeper coach at Wagner College. She helped tutor the Seahawks’ first ever all-conference recipient as Julie Vigliotti picked up Northeast Conference (NEC) Second Team honors in 2009. She monitored the Wagner student-athletes’ academic progress, seeing the Seahawks post the highest GPA in the NEC in both 2009 and 2010.

Klebanow was an assistant coach at Bloomington High School South in Indiana for the 2007 and 2008 seasons, helping the Panthers to back-to-back conference championships. She was a volunteer coach at Indiana University in 2005-06.

In February 2010, Klebanow served as the Region I ’96 Girls Administrator at the Inter-Regional Camp in Pomona, Calif. She was the team trainer and American liaison for the Russian U-14 National Team in July 2010, the first time an international squad came to the United States for a regional event. She has also served on both Indiana and New Jersey state Olympic Development Program staffs.

Klebanow earned a bachelor’s degree in secondary education with a focus in language arts from Indiana in 2009. She earned her master’s degree in education with a focus in literacy from Wagner in 2011.

Brian Simpson joined the Ball State soccer coaching staff as an assistant in the spring of 2012. A former player at Anderson University, he brings experience as a coach at the college, high school and club levels.

Simpson most recently assisted at Anderson, where he spent two seasons with the men’s team in addition to working with the women’s team in the spring of 2011.

Prior to joining the staff at his alma mater, Simpson served as the varsity girls’ head coach at nearby Pendleton Heights High School from 2008-11. He guided the Arabians to a pair of Hoosier Heritage Conference championships and was once named the league’s coach of the year.

“We are delighted to have Brian on board,” Ball State coach Craig Roberts said. “He brings a wealth of experience and familiarity, specifically within the region. He is knowledgeable of the game and will provide quality feedback for players in their further development.”

Simpson, who previously served as an assistant at Pendleton Heights, also has experience coaching and directing youth programs with Pendleton FC and Hoosier FC in Noblesville. He is currently the youth director for coaching for Hoosier FC, and he led its under-12 girls’ team to an Indiana Youth Soccer state championship in 2012.

A former elementary school teacher, Simpson is now working on his master’s degree at Ball State in physical education with a coaching specialization.

Simpson earned his bachelor’s degree in elementary education from Anderson in 2007. He is married to Rachel Simpson.

Jo Ann Gora

Jo Ann M. Gora has served as Ball State University’s 14th president since 2004. She quickly demonstrated her commitment to putting students first by declining an inauguration and instead establishing a scholarship fund for 25 high-achieving students. She has led the development of the university’s Education Redefined strategic plan, which is in its final year of implementation. The cornerstone of that plan is making immersive learning opportunities available to every student.

In the first four years of strategic plan innovation, more than 12,000 students completed more than 750 immersive learning projects in 70 Indiana counties under the mentoring of faculty from every university academic department. Gora has increased Ball State’s commitment to emerging media, campus diversity, and developing nationally ranked academic programs. The strategic plan was the basis for the university’s successful capital campaign, Ball State Bold: Investing in the Future, which topped its $200 million goal by more than $10 million. The university celebrated its conclusion by introducing 55 Bold Celebration Scholars in March 2011 at the Indiana Statehouse, repeating the successful model of the scholarships awarded at the beginning of her presidency.

Gora was one of the 12 charter signatories to the American College and University Presidents Climate Commitment in December 2006. In May 2009, Gora and other officials broke ground on the largest geothermal district energy system in the United States, and Phase One, which will allow Ball State to shut down two coal-fired boilers, will be dedicated in March 2012. When Phase Two is finished, the system will heat and cool more than 45 buildings on Ball State’s campus, saving the university $2 million a year while reducing its carbon footprint by nearly half. For its sustainability commitment, the university has been ranked in The Princeton Review’s Guide to 311 Green Colleges, and has earned a Second Nature Climate Leadership Award. In 2010, Ball State was named the Technology Innovator of the Year by the Hoosier Environmental Council.

Ball State University

The university is one of only eight Indiana colleges and universities accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, and earns top rankings for its programs in fields ranging from education and business to arts and sciences.
