2011-12 BALL STATE BASKETBALL
Billy Taylor enters his fifth season as head coach of the Ball State men’s basketball team in 2011-12. Taylor has led the Cardinals to 54 wins over the past four seasons, including a 19-win campaign last year which marked the 11th most wins in program history. The Cardinals have finished either first or second in the Mid-American Conference West Division the past three years and have advanced to the MAC Tournament semifinals two out of the last three years.

Taylor laid the foundation for the Cardinals’ program over the past four seasons, a foundation that is rooted in four traits - character, commitment, mental toughness and dedication. In his second season, he more than doubled the Cardinals’ win total from his first year and led Ball State to a share of the Mid-American Conference West Division championship in 2008-09. Under his guidance the Cardinals have improved their win total in all four years moving from six wins his first year to 19 wins last season.

Last season, the Cardinals’ 19-13 overall record marked their most wins since the 2001-02 season when BSU finished the year with a 23-12 mark. Ball State posted a 10-6 record in the MAC to finish second in the MAC West Division. The 10 league wins are the most for the Cardinals since posting a 10-8 mark during the 2004-05 season. The Cardinals also advanced to the MAC Tournament semifinals after posting a 76-73 victory over Ohio in the tournament quarterfinals. Forward Jarrod Jones was named First Team All-MAC, marking his third straight season receiving postseason accolades, while freshman Chris Bond earned MAC All-Freshman Team honors to mark the Cardinals’ fourth straight season with a rookie honored.

In 2009-10, the Cardinals won 15 games and finished with a .500 record for the first time since 2004-05. Ball State continued Taylor’s hallmark trait of strong defense as it led the MAC in scoring defense (62.4), field goal defense (.400) and three-point field goal defense (.312). The Cardinals posted a 15-15 overall record and an 8-8 mark in league play as they finished in second place in the MAC, one game out of the top spot. Jones earned Honorable Mention All-MAC accolades for the second straight season while freshman Jawuan Scaife was named to the MAC’s All-Freshman Team.

Ball State, which was picked to finish fifth in the MAC West Division in the preseason poll, finished the 2008-09 season with a 14-17 overall record and a 7-9 mark in conference play. The Cardinals tallied eight more wins than the 2007-08 campaign despite the loss of MAC Player of the Year candidate Anthony Newell who was injured midway through the season. Ball State once again turned in one of the top defenses in the MAC as it limited opponents to just 59.7 points per game on the season and only 57.2 points per game in conference play. Taylor finished second in the voting for MAC Coach of the Year for his work turning around the Cardinals’ program.

Under his guidance, Jones and senior guard Brandon Lampley earned All-MAC Honorable Mention honors this season, marking the second straight year that the Cardinals have placed two on the All-MAC team. Jones was named the MAC’s Freshman of the Year by the conference as well as the conference Newcomer of the Year by the MACreporthonline.com.

In 2007-08, Taylor guided the Cardinals to a 6-24 record in his first year at the helm and a 5-11 record in Mid-American Conference action. The Cardinals posted one of the toughest scoring defenses in the MAC under Taylor’s tutelage as BSU allowed just 63.9 points per game. Ball State scoring defense was the fourth best in the MAC last season.

Under Taylor’s guidance, the Cardinals had two players earn Honorable Mention All-MAC accolades in Newell and Peyton Stovall. It marked the first year since the 2001-02 season the Ball State had two players honored on the MAC's postseason teams. Stovall was also named a finalist for both the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award and the Coach John Wooden Citizenship Cup.

A 1995 graduate of Notre Dame and the Irish men's basketball team captain as a senior, Taylor owns an overall career coaching record of 135-139 in nine seasons as a head coach. Prior to Ball State, Taylor spent five seasons as the head coach at Lehigh where he posted an 81-69 record and was a two-time Patriot League Coach of the Year honoree. He led the Mountain Hawks to the 2003-04 Patriot League regular season and tournament championship as well as an appearance in the NCAA Tournament. In 2005-06, Lehigh posted the third most wins in program history with 19 and a program-record 11 Patriot League victories.

In his first season as a head coach in 2002-03, Taylor guided the Mountain Hawks to the second-largest turnaround in the nation, improving on the previous year's record by 11 wins. He was named the Patriot League Coach of the Year after finishing with a 16-12 record.

In 2003-04, Taylor led Lehigh to its first-ever Patriot League regular season and tournament championships, as well as a trip to the NCAA Tournament. For his efforts, Taylor earned the league's Coach of the Year honor for the second time in as many seasons, becoming the first coach since Gonzaga's Mark Few to win conference Coach of the Year honors in each of his first two seasons as a head coach.

In 2005-06, Lehigh posted the third most wins in school history with its 19-12 overall mark and a school-record 11 Patriot League wins.

Prior to Lehigh, Taylor was the top assistant for three years at North Carolina-Greensboro under Fran McCaffrey from 1999-2002, helping the team to an improvement of eight wins in his first season. UNC-Greensboro won the Southern Conference Championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament with a 19-11 record in 2000-01, before posting a 20-10 mark and an NIT appearance in 2001-02.

Taylor served as an assistant coach at Notre Dame during the 1998-99 season under head coach John MacLeod. He coordinated opponent scouting reports, game preparations, preseason and postseason skill development sessions. He also coached Troy Murphy, who won both the Big East Rookie and Player of the Year awards at Notre Dame, and is currently a member of the Indiana Pacers.

Taylor, who was recruited to Notre Dame by Digger Phelps, was a four-year letterwinner for the Irish. He started 79 of 112 games during his career and was the team captain as a senior. He scored 577 points and grabbed 300 rebounds in his career, before graduating with a degree in accounting and computer applications in 1995. He also earned his CPA in 1998.

Taylor and his wife, Avlon, have two daughters, Gavielle and Tamia, and a son, Savion.

Ball State welcomed in a strong recruiting class last season that helped the Cardinals post a 19-13 overall record, the 11th most wins in a single-season in Ball State history.

The Cardinals received strong contributions from its freshmen class of Jesse Berry, Jay Copeland, Matt Kaminieczi, Tyree Robinson and Chris Bond who combined to play 122 games and score 699 total points. Bond became the Cardinals’ fourth straight selection on the MAC All-Freshman Team after finishing second in the league in field goal percentage (.589). Junior forward Jarrod Jones also continued his stellar career with the Cardinals as he earned First Team All-MAC honors, his third straight year to receive postseason league honors.

Simmons earned his bachelor’s degree from Wilkes in organizational communications and secondary education in 1993. He and his wife Deb have two daughters, Hanah and Isabella.

Jay Newberry enters his fourth year as an assistant coach at Ball State for head coach Billy Taylor. Gillilan has been an integral part of the Cardinals recruiting process during his first year as an assistant coach. He helped Ball State post a 19-13 record last year, marking the 11th most wins in a single-season in Ball State history. He worked closely with the Cardinals guards last season and helped Randy Davis post the fifth-highest assist total (160) in Ball State history.

Gillilan earned Patriot League All-Rookie honors as a freshman when he led the league in three-point shooting during conference action. As team captain during his senior campaign, he helped Lehigh post the third most wins in school history with a 19-12 mark, including a school-record 11 Patriot League victories. He led the Patriot League with the highest assist/turnover ratio as the Mountain Hawks' starting point guard.

Gillilan graduated in 2006 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science. He earned a Juris Doctor from Valparaiso School of Law in 2009 and was a member of the Moot Court Honor Society, the executive board of the Trial Advocacy Team and represented the law school on the 2008-09 steering committee.

Gillilan married the former Ashley Densberger in August.

Mickey Hosier enters his second season on head coach Billy Taylor's staff and his first season as the director of basketball operations. Hosier spent last season as the Cardinals video coordinator and helped Ball State post a 19-13 record. He was a four-year letterwinner for the Cardinals from 1997-2000 and is currently teaching in the elementary education department at BSU.

Hosier, a native of Alexandria, Ind., was a four-year letterwinner and three-year starter for the Cardinals. He helped lead Ball State to a 59-29 record during his career as a starter. He helped the Cardinals win a Mid-American Conference West Division title and NIT appearance in 1998 as well as a MAC Tournament championship and NCAA Tournament appearance in 2000. He averaged 30.9 minutes per game as a senior while handing out 3.5 assists per game and notching 1.8 steals per contest.

1989-90 SWEET 16

Ball State advanced to its first ever NCAA Tournament Sweet 16 as the Cardinals defeated fifth-seeded Oregon State (64-63) and Metro-Conference champions Louisville (62-60). The Cardinals fell to eventual national champion UNLV at the West Regional semifinals in Oakland, Calif., 69-67.

Ball State had the seventh-best winning percentage of all NCAA Division I teams from 1988-89 through 1992-93. BSU posted a 126-36 mark for a .778 winning percentage in that span.

In 1990, Ball State ranked 22nd in the final USA Today/CNN Poll, which is the Cardinals’ highest ranking to end a season in school history.

Ball State played the nation’s No. 1 (Duke), No. 3 (Kansas), No. 4 (UCLA) and No. 5 (Oklahoma State) teams during the non-conference schedule in 2001-02. BSU experienced its greatest 48 hours of college basketball in November of 2001, when in 24 hours, the Cardinals defeated Kansas (93-91) and UCLA (91-72), which were ranked No. 3 and No. 4 at the time.

The wins over Kansas and UCLA, at the Maui Invitational, mark the highest ranked teams a BSU team has ever defeated and vaulted the Cardinals into the title game against No. 1 Duke. Jo Ann Gora began serving as Ball State’s 14th president in August 2004. Under her leadership, the university has made immersive learning the hallmark of every Ball State student’s college experience. From 2007-2010, nearly 8,200 students completed more than 500 immersive learning projects throughout Indiana and beyond.

Gora has led the development and implementation of the university’s Education Redefined strategic plan, which was the basis of the university’s capital campaign, Ball State Bold. It concluded in June 2011 and topped its $200 million goal by more than $10 million.

Since Gora’s arrival, Ball State has been in the midst of an unprecedented era of campus improvement. For the eight-year period ending in 2012, the university is spending approximately $418 million on major construction and renovation projects. Gora was one of 12 charter signatories to the American College and University Presidents’ Climate Commitment in 2006. She has led Ball State’s sustainability efforts, including its geothermal energy project, the largest of its kind in the country. This fall, the university completes Phase One of the project, shutting down two coal-fired boilers and saving more than $1 million annually in operational efficiencies.

In 2009, Gora earned the Mira Trailblazer Award from TechPoint for her significant and lasting contributions to technology innovation in Indiana. She is a member of the American Council on Education’s Board of Directors and the Association of Governing Boards’ Council of Presidents. She chairs the Mid-American Conference Presidents’ Council and co-chairs the Central Indiana Corporate Partnership. She serves on the boards of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, First Merchants Bank, and Ball Memorial Hospital.

Ball State is ranked a doctoral/research-intensive institution of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.
