In just his third season as the head softball coach at Ball State University, Craig Nicholson’s team claimed a prize it had been chasing since joining the Mid-American Conference (MAC) in 1983. Nicholson guided the Cardinals to a 29-24 overall record and won the school’s first MAC Softball Championship with an 18-3 league record.

Arguably the best season in program history, the 2009 team raked in a total of 12 postseason MAC awards, including Pitcher of the Year (Elizabeth Milian), Player of the Year (Alicia Barkley), four First Team All-MAC selections (Barkley, Milian, Amanda Montalto and Lisa Rozanski), a Second Team All-MAC and MAC All-Tournament team selection (Alyssa Collins) and an Academic All-MAC First Team selection (Milian). Nicholson, who was named MAC Coach of the Year, is the first coach in program history to have four players elected to the All-MAC First Team in a single season.

The 2009 Cardinals also made their mark on the all-time single-season record book as Milian earned the single-season strikeout record with 204, and Jen Reifschneider smashed the single-season home run record with 11. Milian also tied for first in career saves with six, while Rozanski recorded a career record 77 stolen bases as a sophomore. Rozanski set the single-season stolen bases record, 43, in 2008.

Nicholson’s career coaching record is 810-180 for a .818 winning percentage, including an 87-90 overall record at Ball State. In his three years at Ball State, his teams have broken school records in 18 of 36 categories, including slugging percentage which was set in 2009 (.373). In addition to being named the 2009 MAC Coach of the Year, Nicholson was named the NJCAA Coach of the Year in 1997, 1999, 2003 and 2005. He was also the National Fastpitch Coaches Association Junior College Coach of the Year in 1997, 1999 and 2005. Nicholson’s players are also successful in the classroom. His student-athletes have compiled a team 3.0 grade-point average or better in each of his three seasons at Ball State.

Nicholson, the only male softball coach in the MAC, came to the Cardinals after spending the previous 11 years as the head softball coach at Central Arizona College and leading the program to four National Junior College Athletic Association National Championships. He guided Central Arizona to NJCAA National Championships in 1997, 1999, 2003 and 2005, and garnered national runner-up finishes in 1996 and 2000. Central Arizona won seven conference championships and eight regional titles in his 11 seasons.

He is a graduate of Wilfrid Laurier University in Waterloo, Ontario, Canada, where he earned a bachelor’s degree in physical education in 1994. Nicholson earned his master’s degree in sport science from the United States Sport Academy.
Stephanie DeFeo, the former head softball coach at North Carolina Greensboro and East Tennessee State, enters her fourth season as the assistant softball coach at Ball State University. In addition to the team’s first-ever Mid-American Conference (MAC) Championship in 2009, DeFeo has helped lead the Cardinals to a 87-90 overall record in her three seasons, as well as a berth in the 2008 and 2009 MAC Tournaments, marking BSU’s first trips to the league’s premier event since the 2002 season. She also helped coach four All-MAC First-Team selections and one All-MAC Second Team selection in 2009. Ball State also broke numerous hitting, pitching and fielding records during her tenure.

DeFeo spent the 2005-06 season as the sole proprietor and manager of All-American Softball Clinics, where she provided private lessons for hitting, pitching, catching and fielding. In addition, she conducted private clinics for summer teams and middle school and high school programs.

From 2002-05, DeFeo was the head coach at North Carolina Greensboro and compiled a 68-48 overall record. In her first season, UNC-Greensboro set a school and Southern Conference record with 57 home runs. In her two years as the head coach, DeFeo tutored the 2003 Southern Conference Player of the Year and six all-conference student-athletes.

DeFeo also developed a first-year softball program at East Tennessee State where she was the head coach from 2000-02. Prior to East Tennessee State, DeFeo was an assistant at Buffalo (1999-2000), Texas San Antonio (1998-99) and Southeastern Louisiana (1997).

As a collegiate student-athlete, DeFeo earned a bachelor’s degree from Louisiana Lafayette in 1997, where she was a three-time National Fast Pitch Coaches Association All-American and a three-time College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-American. She set school records for home runs in a single season (15), home runs in a career (43), slugging percentage in a career (.676) and runs-batted-in in a career (187). After completing her collegiate playing career, DeFeo played for the Orlando Wahoos in the Women’s Professional Softball League in the summer of 1997, as well as for the Durham Dragons in the summers of 1998 and 1999.

Lyndsay Mouse is in her first year as a graduate assistant coach at Ball State. She holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in exercise and sports science with a concentration in sports medicine from the University of North Carolina-Greensboro. While attending UNCG, Mouse was a student-athlete playing softball in the Southern Conference. She started every game in her career for the Spartans and was also a two-year captain. She also earned Academic All-Southern Conference Team honors, as well as named a National Fastpitch Coaches Association Scholar-Athlete. She is currently working on her master’s degree in sport administration at Ball State University.

Jo Ann Gora began serving as Ball State University’s 14th president in August 2004. She is making immersive learning the cornerstone of every Ball State student’s college experience. During 2007–08, more than 2,600 Ball State students completed 125 immersive learning projects throughout Indiana.

Gora has led an update of Ball State’s strategic plan, which is the basis for the university’s capital campaign, Ball State Bold: Investing in the Future. It will raise $200 million by 2011. She recently earned the Mira Trailblazer Award from TechPoint for her significant and lasting contributions to technology innovation in Indiana.

Gora was one of the 12 charter signatories to the American College and University Presidents Climate Commitment in December 2006. In May, Gora and other officials broke ground on the nation’s largest ground source geothermal energy system. When completed, it will heat and cool more than 40 buildings on campus, saving the university $2 million a year while reducing its carbon footprint by nearly half.

In 2008, she was awarded an honorary doctorate from Yeungnam University in South Korea. She is Indiana’s representative to the American Association of State Colleges and Universities board and is one of the 57 presidents and chancellors on The New York Times/Chronicle of Higher Education higher education cabinet. She chairs the Mid-American Conference Presidents’ Council and co-chairs the Central Indiana Corporate Partnership. She serves on the boards of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, First Merchants Bank, and Ball Memorial Hospital.
Among our more than 146,000 living alumni are renowned entertainers, top corporate executives, leading educators, and members of the Indiana General Assembly.
