Biographical Note:

Lloyd Willis Scholl was born 22 August 1917, in Denver, CO. He received a B.S. from the University of Illinois in 1941. From 1945-48, he was employed as a structural engineer with the firm of Allen & Kelley, Indianapolis, IN.

In 1954, he created his own firm, L.W. Scholl, Architect and Engineer, in Indianapolis. Some of his principal works include the Western Electric Plant (1952), Park Terrace and East Lawn apartments (1953), Seventh Day Adventists Church (1955), Hoffman Specialty plant (1955), the County Hospital (1955), GMC Allison Division Building addition (1966), Shrine Club Building (1968), Park Moore Shopping Center (1968-9), and the Hillenbrand Industries office building (1969). From 1959-60, Scholl served as the Chair of Engineering Technology Division program at Purdue University. In 1970, he became the Building Commissioner for the city of Indianapolis.

Scholl opened an office in Phoenix, AZ, about 1972 and continued to practice there at least until 1978. He died 8 October 1989.
