Dear Prof. Spaulding,

In response to your request, The Lilly Library is pleased to extend its non-exclusive permission to publish two images from our Bible and Religious Holdings Collections. You wish to use images from pages A1 and A2 of John Speed's "Genealogies of the Holy Spirit." They will be used in your dissertation "The Tree for the Forest: Reformation Iconography, Eco-typology, and the Tree of Life in Milton's Paradise Lost." The following credit line should appear in connection with this material: Courtesy Lilly Library, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana.

The permission fee has been waived. Enclosed is your check.

The Lilly Library owns the physical rights to the material cited above. We must caution you, however, that we do not own the reproduction, textual or literary rights. Reproduction for publication purposes therefore is subject to your securing permission from persons, corporations, or other legal entities which may own or claim such rights under statutory law.

Please send a copy of your work to the Lilly Library, attention Director, upon publication.

Sincerely,

Joel Silver
Interim Director and Curator of Books
Lilly Library
