Spring Break Tips

By Emilee Wolfley

Here are some tips to making this Spring Break memorable...but safe:

1. If you're driving, make sure there's someone in the passenger seat keeping the driver awake for long trips.
2. If staying in a hotel, try to stay above the first floor. First floor rooms are super easy to break in to.
3. If you're drinking, be smart. Have someone looking out for you if you're out and about. Watch how fast you drink, and be aware of your surroundings.
4. If you're out in the sun, remember that exposure to sun can maximize the effects of alcohol. More drunk, more dehydrated, and nasty burns. All of those aren't pretty together.
5. If you're going out, travel in groups. Just like they tell you on campus at night, be smart. Don't talk to strangers. Haha. We're adults, I understand, but don't go home with a stranger either. Be safe, be smart, and have a great time.
6. If you die on this trip while not following any of my tips, I will not feel sorry for you. Just saying. :) Have fun!

Which beach looks more fun? What's that you say? The one on the left? Well, they're the same!

One is Normandy beach today, and one is from D-Day! Happy Spring Break! :)
