

Holy Cow, Japan was a lot different than I thought!

Honors Thesis (Honors 499)

by

Amanda J. Gragg

Thesis Advisor:

Ken Heinen

Ball State University
Muncie, Indiana

May 2008

Graduation: May 2008

Thesis
LD
2489
.24
2008
.G72

Amanda J. Gragg

Abstract

This project is meant to summarize my cultural adventures and discoveries while living in Japan for eight months during 2005. Pictures are worth a thousand words, so I chose to make most of the project with photographs I took while in Japan. They are accompanied by some written reflections on things that took me by surprise. It is in book format, but also a slideshow format on DVD.