Together: Ahhh ahh ahh, do you think that we could dance forever?
Ahhh ahh ahh, we must think that we are oh, so clever.
We've one song to sing, and sing it together.
Our love as one we've made it through the stormiest of weather.
It goes on, and on. My friendship you have won.
We've made it through the worst of times.

Alecsander: Don't you think we're luckier than most?

Olga: Please don't boast.

Alecsander: Can't you see, my dear, haven't I made it clear.
I'll love you, 'til the end of time

Olga: With our luck, we can't be wrong.

Together: But after all, we've had it all. And we'll go on
To sing our loving endless song!

Song fades to Blackout. Music blends into next song as Lights come up:

Scene V:

(Song – NIKOLAI One Step Closer reprise)

Nikolai: One Step closer, to pure paradise!
One step closer, to paying the price.
I love, I do, I want, I Knew,
I'll do it all for you, oh how I feel.
I hope I make it through the seal.

One step closer, to happiness!
One Step Closer to knowing what's right.
We've got the hope we need to find our might.
This ending might have joy within our sight.
My Florence, I only hope you're alright.

(This passage will show video clips of Nikolai traveling through paintings, he shall be seen making his journey on the way to Florence. Throughout the entire show, Video projections are going to be utilized to help familiarize the plot to the audience, however these will be later specified in the script once finalized) Blackout.

Scene VI:

Lights fade in as Kristof walks into the East Wing, followed by Charles. The entire room is in disarray.

KRISTOF: Oh mon dieu! What has happened to this gallery! Those statues are too heavy to deal with this second. Let's start with the paintings. I will need the level and my glasses.

CHARLES: Yes sir, right away sir. Oh Sultan of... Yes sir!

Kristof begins to move the MONALISA painting back into an arranged order.

KRISTOF: I suppose I'll start you, and your twisted little smile. This will have to do until that bumbling moron brings me my tools.

Kristof turns around and the ladies shake in their paintings so it slants again. Kristof looks around and moves them again, as well as the painting next to them. He turns around and faces the sculptures.

MONA: Alright girls, let em have it!

LISA: Change NOW!

All of the paintings on their wall fall flat on their face simultaneously.

KRISTOF: Qu'est-ce que c'est? What is going on? I don't have the patience for this.

Kristof backs up and trips over Venus landing face first onto David.

KRISTOF: Something very peculiar is going on? Charles? Where are you? If you are playing a trick, STOP IT IT"S NOT FUNNY. Charles?

He stands up and faces the other wall and the paintings are all moving and waving at him.

KRISTOF: CHARLES! Forget about the level – call the DOCTOR. I think I hit my head too hard. Charles! Mother! SOMEBODY!

KRISTOF exits running in a panic screaming.

VENUS: Well done girls- I knew you had it in you. And to you David.

DAVID: I have wanted to change position for a long time. I never thought to actually put some effort into it. I wonder how long it will be before we're upright again.

MONA: I think he's going to be spooked for a week.

LISA: I sure hope that keeps him from leaving anytime soon.

DAVID: Well he certainly won't be returning to this room.

VENUS: Not without his Mommy! And we're the only way out!

(They all laugh for a little while, then gradually die back down)

MONA: Okay, then. What now?

VENUS: I suppose we wait.

DAVID: That must be your best side Mona. You look great!

LISA: It's Lisa! I do hope the paint doesn't rush to our heads. This could be a bad position to be stuck in.

VENUS: Come on, Nikolai love. We believe in you!

Scene VII:

NIKOLAI: Well, This is it. The last painting. Well Mr. Gray, show me what you've got, because there isn't anything in the world that can stop me from my Florence.

DORIAN GRAY: Something's different in my home. I detect a stranger, a gnome? Come any closer and you will pay, by the wrath of the beautiful Dorian GRAY. (Reveals his face, it is hideous, revolting and horrifying)

NIKOLAI: Don't look at his face; no, was it don't look at his eyes?

DORIAN GRAY: Who dares to enter my tomb? Dost thou desire such a painful doom?

NIKOLAI: Please sir, I only wish to pass so I can get through to the other side. I –

DORIAN GRAY: Speak again without a rhyme, thou won't speak a second time.

NIKOLAI: Nikolai's the name, love is the game.

DORIAN GRAY: He who chases love is a fool, or didn't you learn that in school.

NIKOLAI: Florence is my life, my world, my love; she brings me up to the clouds above.

DORIAN GRAY: Speak no more I cannot bare, what makes you think I want to share?

NIKOLAI: Did thou not ever feel for one, who above all would make your heart run?

(Song- Dorian- TORMENTED LIVING)

Dorian Gray:

I hurt. I feel, I bleed, I peel, like anyone.
You laugh, you jeer, you hate, you fear like everyone.
As monstrous as I am. Why don't you give a damn,
And try to understand me from within.

Tormented Living. That's my life, that's me.
I'm sick of giving, all that I have for free.
I've loved, I've lost, at perhaps to high a cost
So forgive me for not wanting to allow
You're happiness to prevail and I endow.

Tormented Living, the life that I must lead.
I'm haunted. I'm frightening, because of what you see.
I've made mistakes, I've felt my turn of aches,

And forever punished to angrily make the world bleed.

I care, I try. I've no more tears to cry, like anyone.
You look, you see a crook, a creature so
Grotesque, and lonely. So wrathfully sublime.
I've felt nothing but hurt and sorrow now all the time.

Who could ever love me, the monster that I am?
No one can even look at me without being damned.
I'm sorry for not allowing you to pass right through.
But you must understand why I need you.

Tormented Living. A living hell for all to see.
You want, forgiving, well who'll start with me?
I'm tired of hurting, And hopeless at flirting.
I lost my love my life my man my hopes my dreams my fears my soul my every single reason to exist!

I'm forever doomed to horribly be stuck in this mist.
TORMENTED LIVING, Ahhh.

Gradually over the course of the song, Dorian relaxes and becomes weakened by his memory.

NATASHA: Nikolai! You're alive!

NIKOLAI: Natasha? What are you doing here? WAIT Don't LOOK AT HIS-

NATASHA: (Screams) NIKOLAI!!!!

DORIAN: Someone must pay for the pain I feel, inside now her heart will bleed and peel.

NIKOLAI: Natasha, why did you come after me? It is so dangerous.

NATASHA: I never got to say goodbye. I just wanted one last chance. He was going to kill you if not me. I couldn't let you get hurt.

NIKOLAI: I am so sorry. Tasha, you can't die. Please.

NATASHA: I love…y (She dies).

NIKOLAI: MUST you punish her for your crimes, she did nothing but care all the time!

DORIAN GRAY: Right she was about my plan, now you may leave an unharmed man.

(SONG – trio - Nikolai- Kristof- David: SERENDIPITITY)

Nikolai:

What is this horrible twist of fate?
How could she love me so much?
She risked this quest for me, her promised mate
And her death, has made me feel forever touched.

Serendipity. It all suddenly becomes so clear.
How much I appreciate my lovely dear.
My Florence.
Serendipity. Like opening my eyes for the first time.
I never knew how much our love was sublime.
'Til Florence.

David/Nikolai:

Oh Florence. Our love could shine through centuries.
I need you more than you will ever see.
Dear Florence.

Kristof/Nikolai/David:

Serendipity. Life's suddenly fallen into place.
I yearn to reach for you and caress your face.
My Florence.
Serendipity. I long to hold you in my strong embrace.

You've shown me how to learn from your grace.
Dear Florence.

David: I love you
Kristof: I love you
Nikolai: I love you.

David: How can you know what is right?
Kristof: Do I even have the strength or might?
Nikolai: Just one step closer and you're mine tonight!

Together: Serendipity. A stroke of fate that does allow
Me to become the one who loves you now.
Forever.
Nikolai: I'll never let you go.
David: I have to let you know.
Kristof: I need you for my show!

Together: Dear FLORENCE.
I need you Florence.
I'm Coming Florence.
Nikolai: I'll make it to you through these charms.
I will find you, in my arms.
Together: Serendipity!
Florence: Ahhh… (background vocals)

NIKOLAI: Here goes nothing. I love you, my sweet. Closes his eyes. Lights fade to blackout.

Scene VIII

The lights come up with Nikolai and Florence united into one painting, however, both are youthful and in a completely different setting. In the blackout, there will be video footage of hands gradually painting in-between scene changes. The painting that is being worked on will eventually be revealed in-between these scenes as Lawrence Bradbury's secret masterpiece of the two loves as he always thought they should be. The magical "twist" will occur just as the projection shows Lawrence's grandson finding the painting thus capturing their souls within their new home.

FLORENCE: Nikolai? Nikolai? My love can it be?

NIKOLAI: Florence! My god Florence. I knew I would find you. But where are we? Are we not in your home?

FLORENCE: Nikolai- you kept your promise. I do not know where we are. But we're together and that is all that matters.

VENUS: It's great to see you too finally together.

DAVID: Welcome back, Nikolai.

MONA/LISA: Hello young lovers!

NIKOLAI: Hello to you all, Venus, David, Mona Lisa- everybody! How am I still young? I thought I would have survived an old man.

FLORENCE: It is too good to be true!

DAVID: A lot has happened since you disappeared.

VENUS: Our beloved Lawrence was a secretive man; he always was so fond of art and apparently was a closet artist.

MONA: You know how much he loved seeing you two next to each other.

LISA: Well, word has it he secretly painted you two as the way he always thought you should be.

FLORENCE: We always did belong together.

VENUS: Once our new curator, his son found Lawrence's painting, your young souls were captured. Just as he saw you.

DAVID: Now you too are inseparable, forever.

NIKOLAI: Can this be true? You all are our home. We don't want to miss you too.

FLORENCE: What about Kristof?

DAVID: He was blamed for a mysterious disappearance of two paintings.

Kristof is being arrested by guards, getting dragged away.

KRISTOF: I was framed. You must believe me! I did nothing!

MONA: And with our new curator, Lawrence Jr. –

LISA: We will be kept this way for a long time!

MONA: How can you not smile?

LISA: I know that really makes me just tingle!

DAVID: Well it looks like everything's just as it should be. Two lovers joint happily forever. A family of masterpieces reunited and of course, a lovable curator reinstated.

VENUS: It looks as though life is once again, Picture perfect.

(SONG – PICTURE PERFECT Full Company)

All:

Look inside. Take a look. Live with Pride. Find your nook.
There's no perfection, but our connection.
We'll help our story live beyond a book.
The art within, has found new glory
And told our story for you to view.
Life's what you make it
If you can take it.
So your destiny, is what you choose.

Happiness is within your very reach.
For love is all around you if you teach
That in every story, one can always see
Their own perspective and lead their own journey.

Picture perfect, are we.
We're picture perfect, for you to see.
That happy endings do exist.
You only have to search right through the mist.

And anything is possible with belief
Just resist the urge to lead your life with much grief.
And though it may be easier to be grim a while
That happiness is rooted in a great big smile.

Picture perfect, are we.
We're picture perfect, for you to see.
And if you learn it, than so are you.
So take a picture, and journey right on through
Life's is jammed packed with oh so many stories.
It's up to you to take a look and tackle allegories.

Picture perfect, are we.
We're picture perfect, for you to see.
And if you learn it, than so are you.

So journey on and share with the world your view.
Picture perfect, yeah yeah.
Picture perfect, yeah yeah.
Picture Perfect!

Fades to Blackout.
