

Ms. Professor:

Countries with 50% or More Women Teaching at the Tertiary Level

As a percentage of all staff
2005

The proportional representation of women in university faculties has not increased at a concomitant pace. There continues to be significant gender differences in the subjects studied and degrees taken. Women remain dramatically under-represented among students and faculty in the sciences and in technology and engineering.